10 Construction Industry Trends to Watch in 2017

Construction Dive

January 2017

In an article published on Jan. 3, 2017 by Construction Dive, Gina Vitiello offers guidance to construction professionals on the top 10 industry trends to watch in 2017. The article details that collaborative project delivery methods will become more popular, the labor shortage will continue to plague the industry, and the feeling of uncertainty will linger under the new administration. Vitiello states, "I don't know if anybody can predict what the new administration will really do. There's a sense of uncertainty among contractors. If I'm planning on a major contract and it might not go forward, that's a little scary." For the full article, you may click here.
