Chamberlain Hrdlicka's George Connelly recognized for Lifetime Achievement

September 3, 2019

Lifetime Achievement Award from Texas Lawyer for George Connelly

During his 45-plus years of practice, Connelly has come to be regarded as one of the leading federal tax litigators in the United States. A shareholder at Chamberlain Hrdlicka in Houston since 1987, he focuses his practice on IRS audit, collection, and criminal matters including civil and criminal tax litigation matters for individuals, companies, and estates.

Outside the courtroom, Connelly has long mentored young lawyers through both his daily interactions and formal presentations, including his involvement on the Student Development Task Force for Earl Carl Institute at the Thurgood Marshall School of Law at Texas Southern University.

The legal profession is constantly evolving and that evolution only seems to have accelerated in recent years. Whats the biggest change youve seen in the profession during your career?

Without a doubt, it is technology. When I began practice in 1971, we used typewriters and carbon paper. We had telephones but no voicemail or hand held devices. Personal computers were nonexistent, and computerized research was considered a fantasy. No Skype or video conferences, and no internet. The changes could have come out of a science fiction novel.

What is one thing about the profession that has remained unchanged over the years?

The importance of dedication: to the client, to the practice, to the firm where one works, and to ones loved ones.

What is one piece of advice you would give someone entering into the profession that you wish you had as a young lawyer?

The practice of law, much like life itself, is a journey and not a destination. All which preceded itlaw school, the bar exam, the recruiting process, and showing up the first dayadds up to prologue. The real journey begins when you arrive on that first day.
