With more than 30 years of legal experience, Patrick Martin's practice focuses on a wide range of international tax issues. He assists domestic and foreign privately held companies, global investors, funds and other business entities with their international tax treaty planning strategies as well as worldwide investments and financing structures.

Martin also advises multi-national families on issues related to worldwide income, estate, gift, inheritance, and tax withholding planning, as well as international wealth preservation structures. Martin has a wealth of experience in international tax controversies and routinely defends international taxpayers before the relevant tax authorities, including the IRS.

Martin obtained his law degree from the University of San Diego School of Law, where he was the Thomas More Scholar. He also studied international law (Regimen Juridico de Los Negocios Internacionales en Mexico) at La Escuela Libre de Derecho in Mexico City. He is a prolific writer and speaker, discussing international tax issues.

Martin is a Fellow of the American College of Tax Counsel (ACTC) and of the American College of Trust & Estate Counsel (ACTEC). He is also the former chair of the State Bar of California, Taxation Section.

Martin also served as an adjunct law professor at the LLM Tax program at the University of San Diego School of Law for several years teaching the LLM course of International Estate Planning.

Martin has been named to Best Lawyers in America since 2015, to Top Lawyers by San Diego Magazine since 2014, and to California Super Lawyers between 2007 and 2019. Other accolades include the Distinguished Alumni Award from the University of San Diego School of Law and the V. Judson Klein Award from the State Bar of California.
