

TORT LITIGATION

Fletcher Farley defends businesses around the country against all manner of claims of harm (“business torts”). Because our clients operate in a range of industries, each with its unique challenges, our representation is similarly as deep and varied. Our experience includes:

Defense of national restaurant chains in claims of

- Food adulteration
- Dram Shop liability
- Premises liability

Defense of national retail businesses and banking institutions in matters of

- Premises liability
- False imprisonment
- Malicious prosecution

Defense of national property management and development companies related to

- Apartment rental
- General premises liability
- Injuries arising from third-party criminal activity

Although we have earned a courtroom reputation as formidable client advocates, our attorneys counsel clients on risk management and risk-shifting strategies to avoid the expense, business disruption, and possible negative media exposure of litigation. We additionally possess substantial experience in arbitration, mediation, and other forms of dispute resolution.
