Julia Sinor has been focused on helping clients overcome their litigation concerns for more than 20 years. Her commitment to handling her cases with integrity has won her respect from clients, opposing counsel, and the courts. Julia believes that early investigation, detailed preparation, and strong advocacy are key to getting the best results for her clients. These values, and her experience, have helped to obtain numerous summary judgments, defense verdicts, and favorable settlements in state and federal courts.

Julia defends Fortune 500 companies, "mom and pop" shops, and everything in between, from catastrophic personal injury, wrongful death, and property damage matters. She defends these companies against general negligence, premises liability, Dram Shop, products liability, and other matters from pre-suit through trial.

Julia came from a long line of Texans, and was raised in Arlington, Texas. Outside of work, she enjoys cheering on the Texas Longhorns, the Dallas Cowboys, and most importantly, her husband and two daughters.
