Marina Resendez is a dedicated and versatile attorney with a strong focus on commercial litigation, insurance defense, premises liability, products liability, and torts litigation. Born and raised in Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, on the U.S.-Mexico border, Marina's unique cultural background and diverse life experiences have shaped her into the lawyer she is today; one who strives to offer legal solutions to a wide range of clients and help anyone in need.

Marina earned her law degree from Baylor Law School, where she completed two Professional Tracks of Study in Commercial Litigation and Business Litigation. This specialized education has provided her with a deep understanding of the intricacies of these areas of law, equipping her with the knowledge and skills necessary to navigate complex legal matters with precision and insight.

Beyond her professional expertise, Marina has a genuine appreciation for the arts. In her leisure time, she can often be found painting, listening to music, watching films, or attending new museum exhibitions the moment they open. Her creative outlets provide balance and inspiration in both her personal and professional life, fueling her passion for serving clients with empathy and excellence.
