

Plan Now for a Prosperous 2019

Foster Swift Finance Real Estate & Bankruptcy Law News

November 20, 2018

In sports, it is often said that, "The best offense is a good defense." This adage holds true not only on the field of play, but also in business and in life.

As we approach year-end, one of the best ways that you can defend against unwanted and costly legal issues is to plan ahead and think strategically about the risks and opportunities that you, your business, or your organization may face in 2019.

At Foster Swift, we are here to help. By staying on top of important legal trends and developments affecting clients and the industries in which they compete, we can help you understand the current legal landscape—and more importantly, see what is coming next.

From workplace changes to advances in technology, the world is moving fast. It is important to invest a bit of time now so you'll be ready for the new year.

It is critical that you seek trusted advisors to help get your budget in order for 2019 and have key conversations with your accountant, insurance agent and banker.

Contact your Foster Swift lawyer to discuss some of the other important ways you can plan and prepare for 2019, including:

- Accounts receivable/collections
- Employment policy and handbook changes
- Cybersecurity planning
- GDPR compliance
- Tax planning
- Contract review
- Lease extensions or renewals
- And many other issues that may impact you in the year ahead

PRACTICE AREAS

Collections / Creditor - Debtor Rights

Finance, Real Estate & Bankruptcy Law

Tax Law