Patrick Quinn is an associate in the litigation practice group in Foster Swift's Lansing office. He assists in a variety of different practice areas including:

- Contract disputes
- Insurance defense
- Real estate
- Business and shareholder disputes
- Probate litigation
- Family law

"I always knew I wanted a career where I would get to help solve complex issues and I always had an interest in law and government growing up." said Patrick. "A career in law allowed me the opportunity to not only work on matters that interest me, but also the ability to help individuals and business entities with the legal challenges they face."

Patrick graduated from Michigan State University College of Law and received the Jurisprudence Achievement Awards in Environmental Law and in Land Use and Planning. During his time in law school, he worked as a litigation intern in-house at Jackson National Life Insurance Company.

Patrick received his undergraduate degree from Hunter College of the City University of New York where he majored in Political Science and a minored in Media studies. While attending undergrad, he worked as a government affairs intern for an elected official and also interned for the New York City Police Department Office of Management, Analysis, and Planning.
