Brendon DeMay is a first-chair trial and appellate lawyer for finance, technology, retail, and media clients in contractual, securities, and antitrust matters in federal and state court litigation and arbitrations.

Brendon recently first-chaired a federal jury trial against Walmart and won a jury verdict of $101 million in a breach-of-contract case relating to PPE during the COVID-19 pandemic. For this victory, Brendon and his partner Priyanka Timblo were named the American Lawyer's Litigators of the Week. The National Law Journal also named Brendon and Priyanka as finalists for the National Winning Litigators Award.

Brendon also currently represents investors and bank trustees in RMBS repurchase litigations and served as plaintiffs' liaison counsel in dozens of coordinated actions. Brendon recently briefed, argued, and won an appeal in two RMBS matters, obtaining a reversal of the trial court's dismissal and reviving claims worth hundreds of millions of dollars. As a member of the trial team in the Lehman Brothers RMBS bankruptcy dispute, he helped obtain a $2.4 billion verdict for investors.

In other commercial matters, Brendon has represented PetSmart in a covenants dispute with lenders regarding $8 billion in debt obligations. He also has significant experience in private litigation and government investigations into insider trading and securities fraud. He has litigated numerous securities fraud cases, including the Luckin Coffee scandal. He has also litigated cross-border disputes, including the application of Section 1782 in a dispute regarding the breach of an agreement to purchase copper and nickel mines in Brazil.

In his past pro bono work, he has represented indigent parties in appellate, housing, and family law matters. He was recognized as a top litigator under 40 by Benchmark Litigation for six straight years.
