

MUHAMMAD ZAYD MUSTAFA

Muhammad Zayd Mustafa maintains a broad litigation practice, representing parties in high-stakes litigation, appeals, and arbitration. His practice includes securities, antitrust, and other complex commercial disputes. He has represented parties before federal courts, including the Second Circuit Court of Appeals and the Southern District of New York; state courts, including the Delaware Court of Chancery; and the International Chamber of Commerce. He brings significant trial experience to matters involving clients in the financial services, pharmaceutical, and energy sectors, among other industries.

Prior to joining Holwell Shuster & Goldberg, Muhammad was a litigation associate at Kirkland & Ellis LLP. During law school, he interned with the Bronx County District Attorney's Office, worked as a Corporate Governance Research Fellow and as a student attorney for a Civil Litigation Clinic, studied abroad at Oxford University, and served on the boards of the Middle Eastern and South Asian Law Students Association and the Muslim Law Students Association.

Muhammad maintains an active pro bono practice representing individuals applying for asylum.
