Among her recent notable matters, Dorit is counsel to Air India in litigation involving the enforcement of arbitral awards issued against the Republic of India, and represented AIMCo, an investment fund owned by a foreign sovereign, and Wells Fargo, as a securities intermediary, as plaintiffs in nine-figure, innovative “cost of insurance” litigation. Dorit has also represented clients in AAA/ICDR and ICC arbitrations, including most recently an Indian pharmaceutical company in a royalty dispute arbitration and a Japanese pharmaceutical company in an arbitration arising from its acquisition of a Mexican company of pharmaceuticals and over-the-counter products.

Vincent has handled numerous transnational litigation and arbitration proceedings, including under the auspices of the LCIA and ICC. He has argued twice before the United States Supreme Court, including this past term in Waetzig v. Halliburton, in which he secured a unanimous win. He has also represented holders of sovereign debt in litigation against Venezuela, the Democratic Republic of Congo, Guatemala, and Argentina.
