Procedurally Taxing

June 8, 2015

On June 8, 2015, Ivins attorney Pat Smith had a blog post at the tax procedure blog Procedurally Taxing, The Implications of the Supreme Court's Direct Marketing Decision for the Interpretation of the Tax Exception in the Federal Tort Claims Act. This post follows up on his earlier Procedurally Taxing blog post and recent Tax Notes article, Challenges to Tax Regulations: The APA and the Anti-Injunction Act, where he discussed the implication of the Direct Marketing decision for the interpretation of the Anti-Injunction Act.
