Ivins attorney Helna Klumpp's article entitled "Three Key Questions About Corporate Tax Reform" was published in CFO Magazine. It explains three questions CFOs should ask -- and keep asking -- their CTOs as the tax reform debate continues to play out in Washington.

The questions are:

- Will a rate cut come with any unwanted surprises?
- How are we optimizing our sourcing of U.S. cash needs?
- How should we be thinking about the timing of large capex investments? How about supply contracts?
