Ivins attorneys Benjamin Grosz and Robin Solomon's article, "The Case for Custom Target-Date Funds," was recently published by Columbia Threadneedle Investments 2017 White Paper.

"For a plan fiduciary seeking greater control and contextualization than what a prepackaged TDF offers, a custom TDF may be a more appropriate option. With increasing adoption across the 401(k) plan landscape and support from the Department of Labor, custom TDFs seem like an investment option whose time has come."
