Olena Shtohryn is a Ukrainian attorney (admitted to the Ukrainian National Bar Association Kyiv Regional Bar Association in 2011), legal counselor and mediator. She is the founder and managing partner of Dictio Law Firm based in Kyiv. She received her law degree in 2007 from Ukrainian Academy of Banking of the National Bank of Ukraine and her Mediation Certificate from the Kyiv Mohyla Business School in 2019.

Olena specializes in real estate and construction as well as dispute resolution. She focuses on pre-trial settlement (including alternative methods) and litigation settlement of all disputes related to real estate and construction investments. Her practice area covers due diligence of real estate and unfinished construction projects for the purpose of their acquisition, restoration, reconstruction and completion. Olena also advises during the signing of real estate, investment and construction-related contracts, as well as on the application of city planning, land and land use legislation. Recently, she has dealt with changes in real estate and construction law in Ukraine during martial law.

Olena is a frequent speaker for the Confederation of Builders of Ukraine, for which she serves on the Board of Directors.
