Michael Brennan is a paralegal serving Miller Canfield's Employment and Labor Group, including on immigration matters. For more than 10 years, Mike has assisted with document management and review, background research, third-party sourced documentation, pleading drafting and other responsibilities. Previously, Mike oversaw Miller Canfield's Expert Witness Area, where his work focused on providing attorneys with information about opposing experts and identifying potential experts to represent client interests in litigation. In both his current and prior work, he researches and analyzes a wide variety of information available through public records, including court records, state agencies and federal agencies. Through this unique background, he has developed an extensive network of search tools and methods to find whatever information is needed for clients and to serve their interests.
