Charles H. Brower II

Of Counsel

Chip Brower serves as Distinguished Service Professor at Wayne State University Law School, Chair of the Institute for Transnational Arbitration, and Of Counsel to Miller Canfield's International Disputes Group.

In addition to more than 25 years of academic experience touching on virtually every aspect of international law and international dispute settlement, Brower has served as arbitrator, counsel or advocate in proceedings conducted under the AAA Commercial Rules, the AAA International Rules, the HKIAC Rules, the ICC Rules and the SIAC Rules, as well as in advisory proceedings before the International Court of Justice. He has also served as an expert witness on the U.S. law of international arbitration and litigation for high-value proceedings in Canadian courts.

Brower's scholarship on international commercial and investment treaty arbitration has been cited and quoted by federal courts in Canada and the United States, most recently by the Eleventh Circuit's unanimous en banc opinion in Corporación AIC, SA v. Hidroeléctrica Santa Rita SA. He also received the Smit-Lowenfeld Prize for the best article on international arbitration in 2012.

Brower is an elected member of the American Law Institute and has been listed in Who's Who Legal: Arbitration since 2014. In the past, he has served on the Executive Council of the American Society of International Law, as Visiting Fellow at Cambridge University's Lauterpacht Centre for International Law, as Visiting Professor and Scholar-in-Residence at American University's Washington College of Law, and a member of the AAA's Observer Delegation to UNCITRAL Working Group II.

Charles H. Brower II

Brower also has a keen understanding of business and manufacturing, having previously worked as planning and materials manager for three production facilities belonging to a joint venture between a multinational corporation and the Russian Ministry of Atomic Energy.

Brower received a B.A., summa cum laude, from the University of Vermont and a J.D. from the University of Virginia, where he was an editor of the Virginia Law Review and elected to the Order of the Coif. He is licensed to practice only in the District of Columbia and Minnesota.
