Carol L. Lundberg

Global Branding and Media Manager

Carol Lundberg helps Miller Canfield attorneys share timely, reliable and practical information with their most important audiences, including clients and members of the media.

With more than 20 years of experience in news media, marketing and public relations, she began her career in print journalism, working for newspapers and business and legal news organizations.

After leaving the newsroom, Carol worked for a leading Detroit public relations agency before joining Miller Canfield, where she is responsible for the firm's outward-facing messaging and for connecting reporters and editors to the best attorney sources to answer their questions concisely and on deadline.

If you are a member of the media in need of an expert source, please email her at lundberg@millercanfield.com.
