

International Business Briefing: Legal Compliance When Doing Business in Emerging Markets, the E.U. and U.S.

March 29, 2011

Toronto

7:45 Registration/Breakfast

8:15 Presentation

10:00 Adjournment

Canadian companies need to pay close attention to geopolitical and legal risks when doing business globally – even if only sending e-mails, data or documents. The compliance requirements are even greater for Canadian firms working with their subsidiaries and operations in the U.S. and E.U.

Members of Miller Canfield's International Law Team will discuss:

Compliance with Anti-Corruption Requirements

- Canada's Corruption of Foreign Public Officials Act
- U.S.'s Foreign Corrupt Practices Act
- UK's Bribery Act of 2010

Complying with Export Controls

- International Traffic in Arms Regulations (ITAR) in the U.S.
- Export Administration Regulations (EAR) in the U.S.
- Canadian Export and Import Permits Act
- Specific exemptions for Canadian companies
