

Campaign Finance Lawsuit

Obtained a preliminary and permanent injunction against the State of Michigan's enforcement of a recent change to the Michigan Campaign Finance Act, which was amended to prohibit public bodies or their agents from referencing local ballot questions during the 60-day period leading up to a local election. The federal district court agreed that the legislation violates the U.S. constitution.