

City Clerk Election Law Defense

Successfully defended a city clerk accused of violating state law after rejecting a ballot question committee's petition sheets for not having the requisite number of valid signatures.