

Miller Canfield Takes #MaskUpMichigan Pledge to Keep Businesses Open

July 14, 2020

Miller Canfield is proud to join the business community in taking the #MaskUpMichigan pledge to help keep our businesses open. In taking this pledge, we are enforcing the wearing of face coverings by our employees and visitors in all of our locations in the United States.

Public health experts have stated that the most effective way we can slow the spread of the coronavirus is to wear face masks whenever we are in public, especially indoors. So that our businesses can remain open and our schools have the best chance at opening for in-person instruction, the firm is committed to doing our part by masking up.

"It's really just good business sense to wear masks in public and in our offices," said Miller Canfield CEO Michael McGee. "We care about our attorneys and staff and our clients and their employees, as well as the community at large. We want our business, our clients' businesses and all businesses to remain safe and open, and the only way we can do that is to do our part in slowing the spread of the coronavirus."
