

Miller Canfield's Kim Nowosad Elected President of Association of Litigation Support Professionals of Eastern Michigan

December 8, 2010

Miller Canfield practice support manager, Kim Nowosad (Detroit, Mich. office), has been appointed to a one year term as president of the Association of Litigation Support Professionals (ALSP) for the Eastern Michigan Chapter.

The ALSP is dedicated to establishing global professional standards for the litigation support profession through collaboration, education and certification.

At Miller Canfield, Nowosad is a member of the Electronic Discovery and Document Management team. He has 30 years of experience providing in-house counsel with e-discovery and litigation support services. He has also coordinated the design of litigation databases used by attorneys and paralegals and provided training in the use of these litigation support applications. Nowosad is an active member of the Litigation Support Vendors Association and serves as an Adjunct Professor in the paralegal studies department where he teaches Law Office Economics and Technology and e-Discovery at Madonna University. He received his M.S.F. from Walsh College and B.S. from the University of Detroit Mercy.
