

Miller Canfield Attorney Elected to American College of Real Estate Lawyers

May 24, 2005

The law firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, P.L.C. announces that Lawrence M. Dudek, a principal in the Detroit office, was elected to membership in the American College of Real Estate Lawyers. Membership is by invitation only and includes those with proven leadership and who can speak effectively on real estate law, regulation and practice. The College was established in 1978.

Dudek is a litigator who represents banking institutions and secured creditors in connection with all aspects of commercial foreclosures and workouts involving real estate and personal property, such as out-of-court workouts, federal bankruptcy, and state court litigation proceedings and also represents a number of contractors and owners in construction claims cases.

He is a member of the American Bar Association, the ABA Section on Litigation and the Forum on the Construction Industry, State Bar of Michigan, Federal Bar Association, Oakland County Bar Association, and Detroit Metropolitan Bar Association, and has been an instructor for the Bankruptcy Trial Advocacy Workshop presented by the Federal Bar Association's Detroit Chapter. He is a frequent speaker on bankruptcy, mortgage foreclosure, real estate, and personal property topics. He is also former chair of the Real Property Law Section of the State Bar of Michigan.

He received his law degree, magna cum laude, from Wayne State University Law School, and his B.A. from the University of Michigan.

He resides in Livonia, Michigan.

The 340-attorney law firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, P.L.C. was established in Detroit in 1852 and has offices in Ann Arbor, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Howell, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Monroe, and Troy, Michigan.
