How Can We Help?

Miller Canfield Consulting specializes in bringing the private and public sectors together on economic development projects, providing advisory and strategy expertise, and legal services to add unique value to your project.

State governments, economic development organizations, and counties and municipalities throughout the region are interested in partnering with companies to plan, structure and fund high-impact projects and initiatives.

Leveraging Miller Canfield's deep knowledge of economic development and relationships with decision makers, investors and stakeholders on a wide range of projects, Miller Canfield Consulting helps clients navigate the complex process of identifying and securing incentives, financing and other opportunities for public-private partnerships.
