

Project & Public Finance

Through development agreements and other project entitlements, municipalities can advance public infrastructure needs and the shape of a community and its resources. Through the cooperative efforts of our public law, public finance, and real estate attorneys, our firm has unparalleled experience with all aspects of new development projects and the public facilities required to serve the projects. From the innovative concept stages to the ultimate financing and implementation of public aspects of a private-public partnership, our attorneys bring our collective experience to the table for our clients in an endless variety of project types and structures.

TEAM

Peter M. Thorson

RELATED PRACTICES

Municipal & Public Agency
Law