

Rail Projects

RWG lawyers represent public agencies on acquisitions relating to rail projects, including rail line extensions, maintenance and operations facilities, realignment of public streets, parking structures, traction power substation supply sites, and crossing and safety equipment. These acquisitions often involve partial, fee, and temporary and permanent easements, from single-family residential parcels, commercial parcels, and industrial parcels. RWG lawyers work closely with staff to successfully negotiate the acquisition of the necessary property interests and vigorously represent public agencies in any filed eminent domain proceedings.
