

ALCOHOL & REGULATED INDUSTRIES

Shutts & Bowen's alcohol and regulated industry attorneys offer diverse capabilities for clients in matters involving comprehensive alcohol regulatory compliance and licensing at the federal, state and local levels. We help navigate clients through complex problems posed by the rapidly shifting regulatory landscape, working with businesses to create intelligent solutions that support strategic business objectives.

Our understanding of alcohol licensing regulations, coupled with our multijurisdictional capabilities in Florida, makes us well-positioned to tackle any regulatory and compliance issues that may arise. Our attorneys understand the inner workings of government agencies and have strong connections with industry professionals. Because of our experience, we understand how regulatory agencies operate and how decisions are made by public employees.

Our regulatory lawyers frequently work alongside Shutts' Government Law, Corporate, Hospitality and Land Use attorneys, who offer a perspective from time spent as public servants with federal, regional, state, county, and municipal governments.

Alcohol Licensing and Regulatory Compliance

Our Alcohol & Regulated Industries attorneys are particularly focused on assisting clients with comprehensive alcohol licensing and regulatory compliance representation focused on strategic business solutions and expansion. They strive to be at the forefront of emerging industry trends and the refashioning of traditional concepts. Our professionals have helped shape alcoholic beverage regulations for many years at the federal, state, and local level. They represent all tiers of the alcohol industry, including manufacturers, wholesalers, and both on- and off-premise retailers. Our clients are diverse and operate across a wide array of industries and services focused on the production, importation, distribution, and retail sale of alcohol including both on- and off-premise establishments. Our team has helped many small and big businesses in acquiring their alcohol license to serve in Florida.
