Miami
10.14.25

Aleksey Shtivelman, a partner in Shutts & Bowen LLP's Miami office and Board-Certified Specialist in International Litigation & Arbitration, will be lead a 45-minute briefing on the latest OFAC sanctions against Russia and what they mean for companies worldwide hosted by The Knowledge Group on October 30, 2025, from 12:00 PM to 1:00 PM.

During the live CLE webinar, titled "Russia Sanctions Now: What Just Changed, What It Means for Your Money Flows, and What To Do Next," Aleksey will address the evolving sanctions on Russia's financial, energy, and shipping networks, and how even indirect exposure can put international businesses at risk.

During the session, Aleksey will break down what's new in the latest OFAC designations and General Licenses 130 and 8L; how secondary-sanctions risks now extend to global banks, traders, and suppliers; and what practical steps every business should take to stay compliant and protect cross-border operations.

"These rules are changing fast," said Aleksey. "This talk will help highlight key changes and what to do to be proactive as opposed to reactive."
