In an article released by Law360, law firm leaders spoke about how business has changed since the onset of the pandemic, including insight into what worked and what didn't for their firms and what's to come in the next year and beyond.

Bowman Brown, Chairman of Shutts & Bowen's Executive Committee and Co-Chair of the Financial Services Practice Group, commented on the adaptability of the firm's attorneys and staff to an all-remote work situation.

"One thing I've learned is that people have an amazing ability to adapt to adversity and to overcome it," he said. "It's been almost shocking to me the ability of our lawyers and other staff to rise to the occasion and find a way to make it work."
