

Olga Pina to Speak at the 2022 Africa-America Women's Economic Forum

Tampa
1.25.22

Olga Pina, a partner in Shutts & Bowen LLP's Tampa office, will be a featured panelist speaker at the 2022 Africa-America Women's Economic Forum & Trade Expo (AAWEF) Initiative on January 26.

Olga will participate in the "Placing Product on the Market: Legal & Regulatory Considerations" session, discussing important takeaways for the women entrepreneurs participating in the conference from America and nations in Africa. During the interactive session, Olga and her fellow speakers will cover various legal topics, including intellectual property, data privacy and other eCommerce concerns, protecting business interests with the right contract terms and more. Joining Olga during the session will be fellow panelist James Bledsoe, Director of the eCommerce Innovation Laboratory, as well as moderator Kenneth Mouradian, Director at Orlando U.S. Export Assistance Center.

The goal of the Africa-America Women's Economic Forum is to create viable, replicable business models which will assist in entrepreneurship development of women in Africa and African-American women in the United States, and to foster long-term, actionable networking opportunities among participants.
