Miami, FL – Shutts & Bowen LLP is pleased to announce that Heidi Howard Tandy has joined the firm's Miami office as a Partner in the Intellectual Property Practice Group.

Tandy, who is Board Certified by The Florida Bar in Intellectual Property Law, has nearly 30 years of experience on intellectual property law. She advises clients on corporate, licensing and litigation matters involving the internet, social media, privacy and technology, and her diverse clientele ranges from content creators and technology developers to corporations and business owners. In addition to protecting and managing trademarks, copyrights, websites and apps across industries, Tandy manages domestic and international trademark portfolio, has overseen hundreds of USPTO applications and represents clients before the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board, the World Intellectual Property Organization, and in federal and state courts.

"Heidi is a highly regarded intellectual property attorney with deep experience right at the intersection of technology, media and the law," said Francis "Frank" Rodriguez, chair of the firm's Executive Committee. "Her ability to guide clients through complex IP and digital issues makes her an outstanding addition to our Miami office and further strengthens our capabilities in a constantly evolving area of law."

Tandy is active in The Florida Bar's Business Law Section and the American Bar Association, where she serves on multiple committees. She is a member of the Program on Information Justice and Intellectual Property at American University Washington College of Law and is involved with International Trademark Association (INTA), where she currently serves as Subcommittee Chair for the Exceptions and Limitation Committee.

"We're excited to continue growing our intellectual property footprint throughout Florida," said Woodrow "Woody" Pollack, Co-Chair of the firm's Intellectual Property Practice Group. Added Co-Chair, Joseph W. Bain, "As the firm with one of the deepest benches of Chambers-ranked intellectual property attorneys in Florida, we're thrilled to welcome Heidi and her impressive background to our team."
