Construction Executive

6.8.21

Shutts & Bowen LLP is pleased to announce that the firm has been nationally ranked among Construction Executive magazine's Top 50 Construction Law Firms™ for 2021. In the firm's inaugural appearance on the list, Shutts placed 32nd in the 2021 rankings.

The Construction practice group at Shutts represents a broad range of clients and is well-known throughout Florida as a premiere construction law department with a focus on contract-related matters and dispute resolution, including litigation, mediation and arbitration.

"The Shutts Construction practice group is proud to be recognized for our deep bench of experience and for our successes on behalf of our clients, especially among this prestigious list of fellow construction departments across the country," said Timothy Woodward, leader of Shutts & Bowen's Construction practice group.

Construction Executive, a leading trade magazine about the business of construction, published a comprehensive ranking of The Top 50 Construction Law Firms in its June 2021 issue. To determine their rankings, Construction Executive surveyed hundreds of U.S. construction law firms with a dedicated construction practice to determine rankings based on specific data, including 2020 practice group revenues, the number of attorneys in the construction practice, the percentage of revenue derived from the practice, the number of states the firm is licensed to practice, the year the practice group was established and the number of practice-specific clients that were served in 2020.
