

Brendan Barry and Dan Daley Celebrate Passage of 2016 WIIN Act

12.23.16

Yesterday, Fort Lauderdale attorneys Brendan Aloysius Barry and Dan Daley celebrated the recent passage of the Water Infrastructure Improvements for the Nation (WIIN) Act of 2016.

The WIIN Act authorizes the deepening and widening of Port Everglades navigational channels.

This clears the path for fully loaded post-Panamax and Afra-Max vessels as well as a larger safety margin where Harbor Pilots can operate. It will create 7,000 new jobs regionally and support 135,000 new jobs statewide. The project will be completed and monitored in an environmentally sensitive manner and is poised to become the model for future projects.

The celebration was held at Port Everglades Cruise Terminal #29 and was attended by United States Congresswoman Lois Frankel, Congressman Ted Deutch, Congressman Mario Diaz-Balart, Congresswoman Frederica Wilson, Congresswoman Debbie Wasserman Schultz, Broward County Mayor Barbara Sharief, Broward County Commissioners Chip LaMarca, Michael Udine, Mark Bogen and Tim Ryan as well as local business leaders, such as Terry Stiles, Cliff Berry, Fred Rogacki, and Eric Roth.

Brendan and Dan will continue to work with the Port Staff, Port Everglades Association, Broward Alliance and the Workshop to get the project designed, funded and built.
