Daily Business Review

Sheila Cesarano has been recognized as one of the Top 20 Women in Law in South Florida, by the Daily Business Review. An accomplished attorney, Ms. Cesarano was selected due to the longevity of her career as a high-caliber litigator. She, along with all honorees, was recognized at a luncheon on October 15, 2014.

Some of the biggest employers in the nation call on Ms. Cesarano to handle labor and employment cases in Florida. A skilled veteran with a strong trial record, she has more than 30 years of experience defending Fortune 100 companies in and out of court. She also leads a team of lawyers at Shutts & Bowen as Co-Chairperson for the Labor and Employment Practice Group and is based in the Miami office.

From her start with the National Labor Relations Board to her current partnership at the firm, Ms. Cesarano's work has covered a broad range of labor and employment issues. Her experience has led to her representation of major national clients such as Target, L'Oreal S.A./Lancôme and others.

As one of roughly 6% of attorneys who are Board Certified by The Florida Bar, Ms. Cesarano defends employers in discrimination matters, including race, sex, national origin, sexual harassment, pregnancy, religion, age, and disability, as well as claims of retaliation. She also defends hotels, restaurants and other businesses in accessibility cases brought under the Americans with Disabilities Act.
