

AGRICULTURE

Agricultural businesses in Florida face new challenges with each growing season. Rising insurance costs, financing, federal and state regulatory issues, and immigration are just a few of the issues affecting clients and the industry as a whole. We counsel clients in these concerns so that agricultural businesses can focus on their products and the market.

With attorneys throughout the state, we combine our resources to serve clients in many related areas as well. They include real estate, insurance, estate planning, environmental, labor, immigration, government law, corporate transactions and litigation.
